Miguel Oriola

American night

Miguel Oriola is one of Spain's most important photographers. During the 80s and 90s, he focused on fashion and advertising photography, but over the last years he has been exploring very personal and risky works. In this collection of photos, Oriola captures an American night. In the darkness of the night, strange creatures come out of their holes and walk the streets of an unknown city. Naked, drunk, drugged.
